THEIR PROTEST WAS IN VAIN.

Three Conspirators Sent Off on the

Warrimoo

FOREIGN MINISTERS AT THE DOCK.

Minister Willis Enters Formal Objection, but Mueller, Johnstone and Cranstoun Go—Were Rebel Dynamit-ers—Given Fare and Fifty Dollars.

HERE was a scene

enacted at the Pacific

Mail wharf on Saturday, just previous to the departure of the steamer

Warrimoo for Vancouver, that will long be remembered

by the principals and those who assisted.

After due deliberation the authorities concluded to deport three of the persons under arrest for conspiracy in the late attempt to overthrow the Republic. These were J. Cranstoun, A.

E. Mueller and J. B. Johnstone. The first two named individuals had been assigned and accepted the undertaking of throwing dynamite bombs into the Central Union church during services on the Sunday evening the outbreak was scheduled. Besides this the men have been most aggressive in their opposition to the Government for some time previous to their arrest about three weeks ago.

Cranstoun is the party who was responsible for the split in the rank and file of the Schutz Club, through which ex-Police Captain Carl Klemme was brought into notoriety which had much to do with his dismissal from the force afterwards. Muller was the boon companion of Cranstoun in all his schemes against the Government, and on many occasions expressed himself in bitter terms regarding the same. Previous to the royalist outbreak Johnstone was in the employ of the Government as a guardman and was supposed to be a loyal citizen.

Instead of reporting the meetings of the rebels to the Marshal, Johnstone lent himself body and soul to the revolutionists and their cause. He continued to hold his position, but informed the authorities that everything was calm and serene among the malcontents. When the memorable outbreak did come, Johnstone proved a traitor and was found in the ranks of the enemy.

The three men mentioned above were among the first arrests made after the commencement of hostilities, and formed the nucleus of the large colony now crowding all available places of detention.

A meeting of the Cabinet was held in the police station on Friday evening, at which a decision was reached to deport the men. Such an action was not decided on hastily, but after a free and full discussion of all phases of the question at issue.

Cranstoun, Mueller and Johnstone were taken from the prison on Saturday morning and confined in the station house. Shortly before noon, the hour announced for the Warrimoo to sail, the men were placed in hacks and escorted under heavy guard to the wharf. On reaching there the three miscreants realized for perhaps the first time what was intended to be done with them. Cranstoun made a stubborn resistance, and had to be forced up the gang plank, while the other two men quietly boarded the steamer. Once aboard the men to be sent out of the country for the country's good became very abusive, and swore in round numbers the direst sort of vengeance against the Government, and the marshal in particular.

This little by-play by the prisoners

THE TRADE OF THE ISLANDS.

The Value of the Hawaiian Commerce to San Francisco

RESOLUTION OF THE MERCHANTS.

They Want an American War Vessel Stationed at Honolulu Permanently—Reasons Which Actuated the Chamber of Commerce in Favoring that Course.

The voice of United States Senator Morgan was heard at Washington during a discussion on a certain memorable occasion, when the merits of the Hawaiian Provisional Government, annexation and other kindred and allied topics were under consideration by the nation's legislators, saying:

"When a crown falls in the Western Hemisphere it is pulverized. When a scepter departs it departs forever."

The debate on Tuesday afternoon last in the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, says the San Francisco Bulletin of January 17th, in reference to permanently stationing an American warship at Honolulu caused an interview yesterday with Claus Spreckels, who explained why the present conditions at Honolulu are considered unsatisfactory by him. The force of his interview was found in a few points. He believes that the United States interfered unwarrantably in the affairs of the Hawaiians. He believed that the Republic is a sham in that it does not represent the large majority of the Hawaiian people. He believed that the Hawaiian people should settle their own affairs in their own way, and that a warship of the United States is not needed at Honolulu. Moreover, he believed that the geographical position and trade advantages held out by San Francisco insure us the commerce of the Hawaiian Islands.

The resolution which called out Mr. Spreckels' remarks before the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon was drawn and introduced by Hugh Craig. There was no antagonism between Mr. Craig and Mr. Spreckels in the chamber. The former, in an interview today, tells of the commercial considerations which were back of his resolutions. His statement contains statistics which indicate care in compilation.

"The point is," said Mr. Craig, "that it is absolutely necessary that the United States should foster the friendly relations which exist between this country and the people of Hawaii. The friendly intent of the Hawaiians toward the United States is manifested by the fact that they refused to lease one of their islands without conferring with us. The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco took up this matter because of the value of the Hawaiian commerce to this city."

"The foreign commerce of Hawaii amounts to about $18,000,000 per annum. Of the total the United States has 71 per cent. of the import trade and 95 per cent. of the exports. In short, we do over 90 per cent. of the total foreign trade. Estimating the total population of Hawaii at 90,000, it will be seen that the foreign trade of that country amounts to $200 per capita. That far exceeds the per capita amount of foreign trade of Great Britain or the United States. Reckoning the English people at 78,000,000, their foreign trade averages only $100 per capita. With 70,000,000 persons in the United States, the foreign trade of this country is only about $25 per head. In twenty years the Hawaiian people have developed a phenomenal foreign commerce, as these figures unmistakably indicate."

"San Francisco does the bulk of this business, and about 70 per cent. of the whole is carried in foreign bottoms. San Francisco, therefore, has a large interest in preserving this advantage for our people. There is another point worthy of mention referring to foreign investments in the Hawaiian Islands. Of these five-eighths are controlled by Americans, one-fourth by the British, and one-eighth by the Germans. This supplies another reason why we should take this stand as a Chamber of Commerce, an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure. If friendly relations should be disturbed, the greatest sufferers would be the people of California."

"A warship of the United States at Honolulu would not be there for the purpose of putting down any demonstration among the Hawaiians. At the same time its presence would inspire confidence—that behind the American flag there is sufficient force to protect American interests. It is not longer a question whether the new republic is stable, for President Dole and his able ministers have already demonstrated that they are able to efficiently preserve the Government and to put down anything like incipient revolution. But the interests of the United States, and particularly of California, demand that our dependency, for Hawaii is really an American colony, should not be without the presence of our flag."

"When it comes to a question whether the plans of President Cleveland for re-instating the queen have failed or should be entitled to consideration, that does not concern the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, as representing our large commercial interests."

The resolution introduced by Mr. Craig was presented by him as Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Foreign Commerce and Revenue Laws.

DECEMBER TERM, 1894.

BEFORE JUDD, C. J., BICKERTON, J., AND COOPER, CIRCUIT JUDGE SITTING IN PLACE OF FREAR, J., ABSENT FROM ILLNESS.

KEOKI MAO VS. APA (CU).

TRESPASS.

In a District Court defendant pleaded to the jurisdiction, pleading title in real estate; the Court sustained the plea and a general appeal was taken to the Circuit Court, where the same plea was made and overruled and the case was tried on its merits with a jury. Held: That the District Court had jurisdiction. That the appeal should have been on a point of law. That the case should have been remanded to the District Court for hearing on its merits.

The verdict is set aside and case remanded to District Court for trial.

OPINION OF THE COURT BY BICKERTON, J.

This case was first heard in the District Court of North Kona, Island of Hawaii, where the defendant pleaded that the land said to have been trespassed on was his land; this we understand to have been a plea to the jurisdiction of the Court. Sec. 10 of the Act "To Reorganize the Judiciary Department," p. 92, Laws of 1892, provides that District Courts "shall not have cognizance of real actions, nor actions in which the title to real estate shall come in question." The said Court after hearing the evidence, dismissed the case on the ground that it was a dispute as to the right or title to the land said to have been trespassed upon; this could only mean that the Court sustained the plea to the jurisdiction. A general appeal was taken by plaintiff to the Circuit Court of the Third Circuit at the October Term 1894, where the same point was raised on motion. After a hearing the Court overruled the motion, thereby holding that the District Court had jurisdiction to hear the case and decide it on its merits. The Circuit Court should then and there have remanded the case back to the District Court for trial on its merits but did not do so, and proceeded to trial with a jury, which resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff with $70 damages and the matter now comes here on a bill of exceptions. When the District Court dismissed the case on the grounds above stated the appeal should have been on the question of law, as to the jurisdiction and not a general appeal, and the Appellate Court, finding that the lower Court had jurisdiction would have had to send the case back for hearing on its merits; that was the only course that should have been pursued.

After a careful examination of the records and all the evidence in the case, we are unable to find anything that raises the question of title to real estate, or any element that would oust the District Court of jurisdiction. There had been no judgment of the District Court on the merits of the case, only a ruling sustaining the plea to the jurisdiction; there was no judgment to take a general appeal from, consequently nothing that could be tried by a jury. The only question under the circumstances that could be presented if properly taken up on appeal was—did the District Court have jurisdiction in the case. This has already been answered by the Circuit Court in the affirmative. We are of the same opinion.

The verdict of the jury is set aside and the case is remanded to the District Court of North Kona, Hawaii, for hearing on its merits.

IN PROBATE.

DECEMBER TERM 1894.

Petition to Revoke Probate of Will

BEFORE JUDD, C. J., BICKERTON, J., AND CIRCUIT JUDGE COOPER

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF A. AKAHU (W), DECEASED. L. KEAWEHAKU, PETITIONER, AND TRUSTEES ESTATE OF B. P. BISHOP, RESPONDENTS

(Circuit Judge Cooper heard the case in place of Mr Justice Frear, absent on account of illness)

No appeal lies to the Circuit Court at Term from an Order of a Circuit Judge at Chambers refusing to revoke the Probate of a Will

An appeal to the Circuit Court at Term was dismissed by the Court. Held: That an appeal from the order was not the proper method of bringing the case before this Court it being a Term matter the question should have been presented on a bill of exceptions

OPINION OF THE COURT BY JUDGE COOPER.

The petitioner L. Keawe, filed his petition in the Circuit Court praying that the Order admitting the will of decedent to Probate be revoked. The case was heard on its merits and the Judge at Chambers refused to revoke the order and dismissed the petition. The petitioner thereupon noted an appeal to the Circuit Court at Term, which was met by a motion on the part of the respondents asking that the case be stricken from the calendar on the ground that there was no provision of law whereby the case could be tried by a jury. The Circuit Court granted the motion and dismissed the appeal. The petitioner then filed a notice of appeal to this Court and the respondents now claim that the case is not properly here, for the reason that his remedy was not by appeal but by bill of exception. We find that the contention of the respondents is correct. The order complained of was made by the Circuit Court at Term and the method of bringing such a case to this Court is by bill of exceptions and not by general appeal. The case not being regularly before this Court the appeal might be dismissed upon that ground alone, but we go further even at the risk of inserting what under the circumstances might be strictly termed dictum and find after an examination of the whole proceeding that the appeal to the Circuit Court at Term was properly dismissed.

The law of 1864 authorizing the trial of issues of fact in matters of probate and administration by a jury does not afford the petitioner any relief in this case. The validity of the will had been passed upon and an order admitting it to probate had been entered by a Court of competent jurisdiction. The filing of the petition for revocation, did not raise any question of fact that could properly be tried before a jury. Undoubtedly, the Probate Court had the right to revoke the order upon a sufficient showing, but whether or not such a course should be followed was a question of law based upon the facts presented at the hearing on the petition. The Court declined to grant the petition and such a decision was reviewable only by an appeal to this Court, which would have raised the same points as were tried by the Circuit Court.

The correctness of the decision of the lower Court in declining to grant the prayer of the petition is not before us; the only matter that can now be decided is whether the petitioner had a right to appeal to the Circuit Court at Term, and this we have decided in the negative.

J. M. Poepe for petitioner; F. M. Hatch and Mr. Ashford for respondents.

Dated Honolulu, January 26, 1895

SEMI-WEEKLY.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1895.

The recognition of the invaluable part played by the native police during the late insurrection, in the form of a subscription to a fund to be divided among the members of the force is eminently fitting and commendable. Too much cannot be said of the quiet, unassuming but always efficient work of the native police.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is having a building constructed at "Gray Gables," his summer residence, to account for the utility of which every newspaper correspondent in the country is racking his brain. Finally, the New York Press comes forward with the assertion that this new house is nothing more or less than an asylum for Mr. Cleveland's deposed friend Liliuokalani. Our great and good enemy, Cleveland, would be conferring an everlasting favor upon the Republic of Hawaii by taking personal charge of his protegee.

THOSE FILIBUSTER SHIPS.

The United States congress has made many demands to bring Hawaiian affairs to light, and the next advices from the Coast will doubtless tell of another interesting chapter in the official correspondence in regard to these islands, which up to date has not come to public notice.

Soon after the expose of the royalist plot published in the ADVERTISER during the month of October, the United States government was apprised of the possibility of filibuster ships being sent from the western coast to aid in an insurrection at Honolulu. This has never been published in the correspondence placed before congress, and thus far there is no knowledge in this country that any action has been taken to avert such a movement on the part of any person or persons within the United States. In many respects it is a matter of minor importance, yet the people of Hawaii are mightily interested in just what form it will be brought out, and what disposition will be made of it when once in the hands of representatives of the American populace.

MINISTER HAWES' STAND.

The American press, in dealing with Hawaiian affairs, has in many instances done British Minister Hawes an unwarranted injustice. Working upon the old principle of English interference and the attitude assumed by Mr. Hawes' predecessor, they have made the present incumbent at the British legation the subject of many unpleasant accusations, which his official conduct thus far has not credited.

Throughout the present trouble the position taken by British Minister Hawes has been one of dignity, and characteristic of an unbiased, level-headed diplomat. While he has never neglected in the slightest degree the call of those claiming to be subjects of the British Empire, in no instance has he sought or had the appearance of seeking to embarrass the Government of Hawaii. So far as this paper has been able to learn, Mr. Hawes has given his subjects to understand that the British Government would protect them only so far as they are innocent of criminal action, but on no occasion could it be looked upon to harbor a guilty man or free him from the results to which he has laid himself liable by infringement upon the laws of the country in which he has taken residence.

The event has yet to come to our knowledge in which Mr. Hawes has laid himself liable to the accusations of the American press of an endeavor to influence public or private opinion against the Government formally recognized by the Queen of England, or of action antagonistic to American interests in the Islands.

AMERICA NOT ALWAYS A CRITERION.

The Portland "Oregonian" is inclined to make light of the report that the Hawaiian Government is worried over the increased influx of needy Americans to the "Kaua capital." While we realize that the "Oregonian" has magnified the "worritment" of the Republic to an unwarranted degree, underlying this expression of opinion is a sentiment not without followers among certain Americans, that Hawaii is inclined to create mountains from mole hills. This is a very natural outcome of the political strength of the great American Republic which cost thousands of lives in a civil struggle.

It is not altogether a matter of surprise that an American who has spent all his life within the confines of a country like the United States should think there is something decidedly wrong when a hundred or two hundred men armed with rifles and revolvers can threaten the life of a national government. It is hard for him to realize, when sitting comfortably in his home with no fear of personal or national danger while 10,000 irresponsible, half-fed, poorly clad mortals march upon the national capital, that one-hundredth of that number can set the hearts of his brother Americans in Hawaii quaking with fear for the safety of their lives and property. He cannot fully realize that ten men in Hawaii can cause more trouble than ten thousand times ten men in the United States. Yet this is none the less true, and should be taken into consideration, not only by Americans in the United States, but by those who get the tourist's view of the situation and are inclined to criticize methods pursued by Americans in Hawaii.

While the United States can send the whole Confederate army to their homes with no other punishment than a good spanking, and rest secure from any fear of further internal troubles that take the shape of warlike proceedings, the past history of Hawaii has shown that civil malcontents allowed to go free on the same conditions at once set about to make new trouble, trusting in the notable leniency of the community as a means of escape should their second venture prove a failure. As Hawaii has vastly different conditions, so must its Government pursue vastly different methods. The United States in this feature cannot be used as a criterion in drawing conclusions which the political premises of this Government offer.

"LEAKS" ARE NOT RUMORS.

The publication of what purports to be a "leak" on the part of those having a knowledge of the findings of the Military Commission is nothing more or less than an accusation of a breach of faith. If the people are to take the statements published last evening as truthful, there are those in whom the Government have placed confidence who have proven themselves irresponsible and unworthy of the trust placed in them as citizens of Hawaii conducting themselves for the best interests of the governing powers.

It was manifestly proper that the findings of the Military Commission should be kept secret until every witness had been examined and every guilty man put to trial. Whatever truth or falsity there may be in the statements thus published, the matter is of too grave a nature to be made public without the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief.

Findings, which might not find favor among a certain class, if made public, must, of the nature of the present situation, be accompanied with the danger of seriously embarrassing that body in carrying out its work to a successful end.

A "leak" is vastly different from a rumor, though the former may have no more foundation of truth than the latter. Any one giving publicity to a rumor characterized as a "leak" is subjecting every man who had a knowledge of the action of the Commission to the despicable suspicion of having been untrue to the confidence placed in him as a man of honor. It is true that not only the prominent Government officials but the members of the Advisory Council and certain newspaper men are conversant with the decision of the court.

The fact is, no sentences have been passed upon any criminal connected with the recent uprising; and, furthermore, no official of the Government has authorized the publication of any statement in connection with what has thus far occurred in the secret sessions of the Commission. In view of the unpleasant situation in which more than one man is placed by bearing the stigma of possibly having "leaked," it seems that the least that can be done is to ferret out the one who has been guilty of casting suspicion upon honorable men. As to the truth or falsity of the statements made we have nothing to say; the question is, who is it in our midst that is devoid of honor?

THE Bulletin celebrates its thirteenth birthday by coming out in modern eight-page form. The new form makes a very handy sheet, and, as the change is said to be necessitated by increased advertising patronage, we offer congratulations and best wishes for financial success.

"WHERE am I at?" comes home to the Americans of Hawaii with renewed significance after reading the orders of President Cleveland to Admiral Beardslee.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

A Japanese Pastor Who Has Assisted the Government.

Rev. Jiro Okabe, pastor of the Lyceum (Jap. Congl.) Church of this city, and associate superintendent of the work of the Hawaiian Board among the Japanese of these islands, has taken the oath of allegiance to the Republic, says the Friend.

He did this in part as an example to his people. It was done just as we were in the excitement caused by the coming to the city of the Japanese strikers from Ewa plantation. Unfortunately for them, they arrived in town on the first day of the rebellion, and so their action became associated in thought with the rebellion.

Mr. Okabe does not believe that any of his people can be implicated with it. He himself is a member of the Citizens' Guard, and has carried a gun and done duty from the first day of the uprising.

His example has incited others of our Japanese pastors to offer their services to the authorities.

In a recent editorial the Salem, Oregon, Independent says: "Time and again have we seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy tried and never without the most satisfactory results. When ever we see a person afflicted with hoarseness, with a cough or cold, we invariably advise them to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and when they do, they never regret it. It always does the work and does it well." For sale by all dealers. Besson, Smith & Co. Agents for H. I.

COLD SHOULDER TO REPUBLIC.

Cleveland Administration Continues a Policy of Indifference.

ADMIRAL WALKER CALLED AN ASS.

What the New York Tribune Has to Say Regarding the Attitude of the United States Toward the Hawaiian Republic About Warships, Etc., Etc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Some new and interesting information relating to the present attitude of the administration toward Hawaii has come to light. This intelligence will heighten public condemnation of the President and Secretary Gresham, and further demonstrate their stubbornness and lack of patriotism in dealing with a matter of so great importance to this country. The course of the administration in Hawaiian affairs, as is well known, has been opposed to the best interests of the United States from the start. It was bad enough to regard the report of "Paramount" Blount as fairly representing the Hawaiian situation, and later to conspire against the existing Government of the islands for the restoration of the disolute Liliuokalani. The past schemes of the administration have been farcical in character, and fortunately ineffectual in execution. They have served, however, to show the bias and weakness of the administration.

Having failed so disastrously in their monarchical programme, and incidentally improved England's position at the expense of the best interests of this country, it seemed only reasonable to expect that Mr. Cleveland and his Secretary of State would see the folly of their past course and adopt one more in accord with American sentiment and requirements. Information at hand shows that the administration's present policy in Hawaii is to be one of absolute indifference and contempt. This negative policy, if the course determined upon can be dignified by such a word, is as injurious as were the previous active schemes against the welfare of the Provisional Government. Its effect will be to invite disorder, to further foreign cupidity, and to induce, perhaps, actual interference by foreign powers in the affairs of the islands. Mr. Cleveland has decided that Hawaii is to be ignored completely, and any and all moral and physical support to the existing government is to be withheld, whatever may be the change in the situation. Hawaiian affairs would not take the turn the President wished them to take some time ago, and he will now give to the islands the executive "cold shoulder." This country is to manifest no special interest in President Dole's government, and neither directly nor by implication is it to show evidence of concern in the success or failure of the Republic.

THE LATEST ORDERS TO WILLIS.

Hawaii is no nearer the United States, politically, according to the Administration's present attitude, than Japan, which, as is well known, is now in disfavor at the Cleveland "court." President Dole and his Government are to receive no encouragement from the President, but in fact are to be treated with less consideration than any other foreign power with which this country has intercourse. If the Republic endures, the fact will probably excite regret in the hearts of Mr. Cleveland and Secretary Gresham, Liliuokalani's staunch adherents. If it falls, there will be no lamentation. In either event the Administration will extend neither sympathy nor encouragement to the young Republic. The snub is premeditated, and is to be deliberately announced, regardless of consequences. That is to say, just now, when the Republic needs, and in accordance with the time-honored policy of this country, has a right to expect, the friendly solicitude of the United States, kindly sentiment and watchful interest are to be withheld as completely as in the case of Japan. It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. Cleveland's "great and good friend," President Dole, was informed that this country recognized the Republic. Mr. Dole was not told then, nor has he been told by the President or Secretary Gresham, as he ought to have been, that the United States is concerned in his Government's stability and prosperity, and that this country would view with grave concern any interference in the affairs of Hawaii by foreign powers. Diplomatic relations with Hawaii, as carried on through Minister Willis, are hereafter to be strictly formal in nature. According to his latest instructions, Mr. Willis is to keep the State Department advised as to what goes on in Hawaii, but he is not to manifest any special concern or sympathy, whatever happens. Secretary Gresham, in framing his recent dispatches, has been careful not to say to Mr. Willis that the Administration regards the Hawaiian question with contemptuous indifference, but he has clearly indicated that Hawaiian affairs are of no special interest or importance. In these dispatches Mr. Gresham intimates that there is a possibility to be considered of the return to power of Liliuokalani. In that event he directs that Minister Willis is to offer no protest or in any other way to indicate that the United States is opposed to another revolution in the islands.

It has been wondered for some time why there have been no United States naval vessels at Honolulu. Since the early part of September, when Admiral Walker's flagship, the Philadelphia, left that port, no ships have called there except for supplies. Commander Folger, with the Yorktown, stopped there for stores while on the way to China last month, but only remained at anchor long enough to take on coal and provisions. The Charleston also visited Honolulu on her cruise to Eastern waters, but on the same errand as that of the Yorktown, and her stay was equally brief. Since the departure of the Philadelphia several English ships have gone to Honolulu, and remained for a fortnight or more. In fact, it is the exception when one of Great Britain's cruisers is not near the capital of the Islands. It is said at the State and Navy departments that there is no necessity for sending vessels frequently to Hawaiian waters, and the idea of keeping a vessel at Honolulu has not been seriously considered and will not be entertained unless Congress should adopt a resolution on the subject. In explanation of the President's attitude State department officials say that under the present policy it would be absurd to have vessels at Honolulu. Hawaii is to this country as any foreign power, no more no less, and with equal propriety the United States could keep a fleet or a single ship at London or Shanghai, they say. It is also said that if a vessel were to remain at Honolulu it would appear to the people of Hawaii that this country is apprehensive as to the situation in that quarter, and ready to take a hand in any disturbances that may arise, when in fact the United States is wholly unconcerned. One official less discreet than others who have spoken on the subject, said today:

"It is not the business of this country to bolster up a lot of schemers in maintaining a Government they robbed from the rightful owners. Dole and his followers say they are on a stable footing. Let's see if they are. Anyhow, no ships are going to Honolulu, except occasionally, just as they would visit other foreign ports where we have commercial interests."

Asked if the recommendations of Admiral Walker on this point were not regarded as important, the official said: "No. Walker is an ass."

ROBBED BY MOORISH PIRATES. Captain Lauro, of the Bark Scutola, Writes of His Experience.

Satisfaction will be demanded by both the United States and Italy from Morocco for the recent boarding and robbery on the high seas by Moorish pirates of the Italian bark Scutola, bound from Philadelphia to Naples with a cargo of refined petroleum loaded at Point Breeze, says the Philadelphia Record. The attention of the Department of State has been called by the Italian Government to the outrage, and it is believed that the pirates were soldiers who, being unable to get their pay from the Government, decided to rob passing vessels as their only way to get money.

Captain Lauro, who commanded the Scutola, writes to friends in this city that not only was his vessel pillaged, but that his crew were bound hand and foot by the Moors, who were armed with swords and rifles. He states that in a calm, while ten miles off the northerly coast of Morocco, gun shots were heard from approaching boats full of black pirates. They had long guns slung over their shoulders and swords at their sides. Seeing that resistance was useless, because of the number of boats that surrounded the Scutola and the number of men in them, no attempt was made to stop them from coming over the vessel's side. Once aboard they ordered the bark anchored over a shoal spot.

After tying the hands and feet of the crew, the vessel's cabin was robbed of everything. Four boatloads, or nearly 2000 cases of oil, were taken, and the crew was ordered to await the pirate's return. Fortunately, they succeeded in freeing their limbs, and with the assistance of a fair wind bore away for Almeria, in Spain, where the facts of the case were reported to both the United States and Italian Consuls.

Scientific Research.

The scientific editor of the New York Independent says in a recent issue: "The Hawaiian Islands, as the result of recent exploration, have been found to be richer in animal life than was formerly supposed. As the result of a year's investigation by the British Association, through its committee, it has been found that of birds there are seventy-eight species, of which fifty-seven are peculiar to this group. All the land and fresh water shells are peculiar, and of 1,000 species of insects 700 are not found elsewhere. It thus seems that these islands have by no means been populated from the continent, but have been centers of independent creation."

February 5, 1895.

The outlook for the sugar industry in the United States is at least blue and how it is to be made brighter is beyond the ken of the average man. The nation cries out against any further tariff tinkering, the farmer uses his voice against the bounty and the sugar producer of Louisiana has grown hoarse in denouncing free sugar as an insult to American industries. Verily the producer and the legislator are between "the devil and the deep blue sea." Nor is sugar the only staple that is sailing in troubled waters; closely allied to it is the meat industry, between the United States and Europe there has been a sort of interchange of commercial relations that has been considered, generally, mutually satisfactory, but, if the United States will not sweeten its coffee with German sugar Uncle Sam cannot expect Uncle Fritz to gorge himself on American spareribs. In this instance retaliation works harder on the United States than it does on Europe. How long can the American producer continue selling sugar at a half cent a pound under cost of making? And where is the remedy except in cutting off the production and planting the fields with something more profitable. There's no help in legislation; to add to the duty would make the situation worse for the legislators through the power of the trusts that would be worked against them. Influence cannot be brought to bear upon the European governments to reduce the bounty because the interests of their people are at stake and must be protected. Take off the duty and the position is worse because the day of bounties to the producer of any particular article in the United States is buried with the dead past. We would suggest that the matter be submitted to the committee on dehorning hydraulic rams, in the American Congress and let them find a relief.

The Clauss Knives are without question the best thing in the world for cutting warm bread or cake; best because of the facility with which they go through the materials. For young married ladies who persist in baking their own bread these knives are particularly recommended because all weighty effects are removed by their use.

A fish scaler for a quarter is one of the best investments you can make because its use saves time. Besides the scales are more thoroughly removed from the fish than with a knife.

We have received another invoice of the large size Pansy Stoves. We consider this the best wood or coal stove on the market because it is a quick heater, and uses very little fuel. We've sold thousands of them and every one has given satisfaction. The price is easy for an article as good as this. The Dietz Oil Stoves will arrive within the next two weeks. If you prefer using oil to wood or coal the Dietz is the best stove we have ever seen for the purpose. If you contemplate buying a new oil stove wait and examine the Dietz. It will broil, fry or bake as well as the best coal stove you ever saw, perhaps a little better.

YOUNG TEMPERANCE WORKERS.

Meeting of the Loyal Legion Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Over forty-two members of the Loyal Legion, a society of young temperance workers, gathered together yesterday afternoon in the parlors of Central Union Church and spent a very profitable hour in the consideration of topics bearing upon their work.

During the meeting Mrs. Jordan, who is so well known among the temperance workers of this city, spent quite a little time in teaching the members of the society a little song called "Down With the Saloon."

Dr. Hutchins, pastor of Central Union Church, made a few instructive and appropriate remarks on temperance and temperance workers.

Miss Mary Waterhouse was elected president of the society and Mrs. Arthur Wood, secretary.

The society expects to have a most profitable year, and the number of members present yesterday seem to justify such a view.

Dead Body Found.

As Mr. P. H. Burnette, of the Hawaiian Express Co., and a friend were walking up Tantalus yesterday they discovered the dead body of a native lying in a ditch to the left of the grass house just above the Government nursery. The remains were horribly mutilated and emitted such a stench that it was impossible to make a close inspection. The dead man is believed to be that of Liliko, one of the rebel leaders. He is supposed to have been wounded in some of the engagements with Government forces and was attempting to make his way home or into town when death overtook him.

Mr. Burnette reported the matter to the authorities, and a party will be sent up this morning to bring the dead man into the city.

JULIAN LANDS A RICH WIDOW.

Mr Hayne, of Local Fame, Married Down in Florida.

SAID HE WAS A COFFEE PLANTER

The Son of the Woman Will Make an Attempt to Have the Bonds Declared Void—Hayne's Career While in this City A Case of Infatuation

Julian D. Hayne has been heard from again. This time he is the hero of a romance, if it can be called such. He is married. The name of the deluded woman who joined hands with him is withheld, for the reason that her relations will make an attempt to have the marriage declared void.

The wedding took place on Nov. 22d last in a small town in Florida. It seems that Hayne had been in the place before. He met a widow, who is well connected in the North. It appears that he was well off—in fact, she owned a comfortable cottage on the river front, several valuable town lots and a good-sized bank account. This was too much for the impecunious Hayne, who immediately laid siege to the widow's heart, and finally came out victorious.

He represented himself to be a rich coffee planter on one occasion, with his residence at Hilo; at another time, he told the widow that he had resided in Honolulu, part of the time practicing law.

His victim believed every word he said, and accepted his representations without a murmur. Hayne is now in clover, but just how long he will be so pleasantly situated depends on the efforts of the woman's son, who is not a bit pleased with the turn of affairs. He says he will make an attempt to have the marriage annulled.

Julian D. Hayne is well known here. He arrived early in 1893 and put up at the Hawaiian Hotel. He did not have much money, but he had gall, which is just as good in many cases. His bill rolled up as fast as waves on the Waikiki beach; but that fact did not "cut any ice" with him. He was like many others—he expected a remittance. It did not come. It was said at the time that the vessel in which the money was sent foundered and went down to the bottom of the sea to furnish a good resting place for the new cable. At any rate the boat did not come, so the manager of the hotel gave him to understand that he would have to move. He did so. Previous to this Hayne allowed himself to be quoted as the author of a successful comic opera. The ADVERTISER afterwards proved that he was not. The expose caused Hayne's few friends to drop him, so he decided to get out in the first boat leaving this port. It happened to be a sailing vessel. He had his baggage taken to the wharf and placed on board, and after doing so he returned up town and made a few farewell calls. It was an unfortunate move on his part, as the vessel left port without him. The loss of his limited wardrobe did not daunt him in the least, and later he secured passage on another vessel and departed for new fields.

Nothing has been heard of his movements until the other day, when the mail brought the news of his marriage.

THE MILITARY COURT.

Yesterday Was Devoted to Considering Cases Already Heard.

Quite a number of people assembled at the Executive building yesterday morning to be present at the session of the Military Court. The crowd was drawn on account of a rumor to the effect that the ex-queen was going to be tried. The spectators were disappointed, however, as it was announced that the court would not sit during the morning, in order to give the members a chance to finish up some business.

The court was cleared until 1:30 o'clock. When that hour arrived the court had not finished its deliberations, so the courtroom was cleared until 10 o'clock this morning.

Five cases will be called today. It is understood that the ex-queen will be one of them.

The board of management of the Healan Yacht and Boat Club will meet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this evening, at 7:30. Bids for construction of the new boat-house will be considered, with other matters of importance.

ATHLETICS TO HAVE A BOOM.

Meeting Held Last Night Decisive To That End

BASEBALL GAMES TO BE REVIVED

Football Match Between Local Team and Philadelphia Club on Washington's Birthday Tennis Tournament—Action of Athletic Club Etc

A little after 7 o'clock last evening the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. were well filled with enthusiastic supporters of athletics from all over the city. The boys seemed bent upon doing something that would set Honolulu circles agog with excitement and anxious expectation. The first meeting of the evening was that of the Honolulu Football Association, which has been trying for so long to get up a game worthy of making its name famous at home and abroad.

The arrival of the Philadelphia a few days ago gave the boys an idea of trying to arrange for a series of games between the men of the white cruiser and themselves. Word was accordingly sent aboard and a favorable answer received.

The boys made up their minds to "strike while the iron is hot," and decided to have a meeting as soon as possible. The first business of the evening was the naming of dates for the proposed games. After due deliberation and discussion, it was thought best to have the first game on the 22d of this month, allowing an interval of over two weeks for practice. The second game was set for March 9th. In case of a tie, the play-off game would be decided a fortnight from the time of last game, or the 23d of March. All games will be played under the rules of '94, with the omission of the wedge.

W. E. Beckwith offered his resignation as coach of the football team. It was accepted, and Jimmy Wilder, fresh from Harvard, was elected to fill his place. The boys were congratulating themselves after the meeting that they hit upon such a good man.

The finance committee was ordered to find out how much expense would be required for the proposed games with the Philadelphia's team, and to arrange for the leasing of a series of stocks, assessing the values of the same and to report at next meeting.

It was decided to purchase uniforms of the latest pattern, and the boys are bent upon playing in the best form possible.

Captain Olmstead, of the Philadelphia's team, was present at the meeting and expressed himself as highly pleased with the tactics carried out by the boys in their determination to have a series of football games. He said the dates adopted for the games—namely, the 22d of February, 9th of March, and, in case of a tie, 23d of March—would be accepted by the team of the Philadelphia, it having been decided by them to leave the whole arrangements with the local club.

The Philadelphia men are a little ahead of the Honolulu boys on the matter of practice. As soon as possible, Captain Olmstead will endeavor to obtain permission for his men to come ashore and indulge in the regular field practice, which is so much needed.

The second meeting, that of the Honolulu Amateur Athletic Club, was held immediately after the adjournment of the football meeting, as nearly all the members of the latter belong to the former.

The treasurer's report showed $75.90 in the treasury, with no liabilities. James Thompson, formerly captain of the Hawaiiis, was appointed manager of the base ball team, which is to be chosen from the ranks of the club. He is to take charge of everything in connection with base ball.

Charlie Hyde made a statement to the club that he, as well as a few others, had been enticed into the club under the pretence that great things were going to be done in the tennis line. He wanted something done about it. His joke was appreciated, and he was forthwith elected chairman of the tennis committee.

Hyde did not delay his authority for a moment longer than was absolutely necessary, and called a meeting of the tennis committee immediately after adjournment of the club.

A week from Saturday there will be a tournament among the tennis players of the club from a choice of the best players, and a week from that time, if arrangements can be made, the picked men will play a team from the Philadelphia.

Most of the members of the Athletic Club were present during the meeting of the tennis committee, and these decided to allow $10 for tennis expenses.

It has been a matter of considerable regret that suitable arrangements have not been made with those in charge of the Association base ball grounds.

The Association is very much in need of a permanent field, and the only one available is that used by the base ball association.

When the meeting was concluded, the boys collected in little knots around in the halls and outside the buildings in earnest conversation over the result of the evening's work. Every one seemed to be of the opinion that a boom in athletics was soon to be instituted.

WRECKED ON HAKALAU COAST.

The Steamer Kihalani Proves to be a Total Loss

A SUDDEN SQUALL THE CAUSE.

A Stern Line Fouls the Propeller and the Strong Wind Forced the Vessel on the Rocks Captain Lane Works Hard to Save Her

Hilo, Hawaii, Jan. 25.—What last week was one of the best steamers belonging to the Wilder's S. S. Company is now nothing but a lot of shivered wreckage, scattered along the coast from Hakalau to East Point.

While the Kihalani was loading sugar at Hakalau last Friday afternoon, a strong north-westerly wind set in. Captain Lane, of the Kihalani, at once saw that it was going to be more of a breeze than he wanted to encounter where he was, and made preparations to get out.

The Kihalani had out an anchor ahead, a stern line to the buoy, and a breast line to the wharf. The captain took in the breast line, told his second mate to stand by the stern line and pay out as the steamer moved ahead to the anchor. Captain Lane signaled the engineer to go ahead, and began taking in forward anchor-chain at the same time. Just as the steamer was directly over the anchor the engineer appeared on deck with the information that something had fouled the propeller, and the engine was powerless. It was the work of but a moment to discover what the trouble was. The second mate, on hearing the jingle-bell, supposed everything all right, and instead of following orders and paying out the stern-line as the vessel went ahead, he let the line go with a run, slack and all, and it dropped on the propeller.

Immediately Captain Laneslackened away as much chain as he dared, with the hope that he might be able to hold on; but the wind by this time was blowing a gale, the anchor dragged, and in a moment more she was on the rocks, about 200 feet outside the landing. The first bump on the rocks seemed the signal for a frantic rush for the boats. The captain tried to get the boat containing two engineers and five sailors to take a kedge anchor and line and drop it outside, with the hope of kedgeing off clear of the rocks, but his only answer was that, if he wanted to go with them to get in the boat, and the Captain Lane refused to do, as he felt confident that, could he prevail on his men to help him, there was still good chance of saving his vessel. The captain asked the engineer whether or not there was any danger of the boilers blowing up, and, upon receiving a negative reply, told the engineer he would stay where he was. The first boat put out to sea and headed for Hilo.

Captain Lane then telephoned to Hilo for the Hawaii, and the Hawaii made a brave attempt to reach the Kihalani in time to be of some aid; but, as the wind had increased steadily, it was impossible to make much head way against it, and long before the Hawaii could possibly have reached Hakalau it was evident the Kihalani was doomed.

The Hawaii got as far as Pohakamau, having picked up the boat-crew of Onoia, then turned about and returned to Hilo.

The Kihalani sank where she first struck, and remained there until about 2 a. m. on Saturday morning, by which time she had either dropped her machinery through the bottom or had rolled over and it came over the side, thereby lightening up the hull so that it drifted ashore just below the mill in Hakalau Gulch.

It appears to be the opinion of eye-witnesses that, had the officers and crew kept half as clear-headed as the captain, and obeyed his instructions promptly the accident might have been averted; and sure it is that, but for the unfortunate throwing of that stern line, the Kihalani would have gone out safely, as Captain Lane had his vessel under perfect control.

The wreck was sold at auction on Saturday to Captain Fitzgerald.

THE VESSEL WAS INSURED.

The wrecked vessel was recently purchased from Captain Matsuo by the Wilder's Steamship Company and was on her first trip for sugar. She was formerly used on the California coast and was known as the Daisy Kimball. Her new owners changed her name to Kihalani. She had 450 sacks of sugar on board when she went on the rocks. She was insured for $35,000.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

On Friday the Kihalani was taking sugar at Hakalau, there was a heavy sea from the north, accompanied with very strong wind and rain from the same quarter; the captain saw that the sea was getting worse and was going to put to sea and gave orders to hoist the starboard anchor; he had also let go the stern line which got caught in her propeller, and to make matters worse the anchor got foul in the rocks; as the steamer was in close the stern swung around and struck on the rocks; the first time she struck the rudder and stern post were broken, and in a short time the water was in the engine room putting out the fire.

One boat left the steamer with part of the crew which made a landing at Hakalau. The other boat left shortly afterward with the chief engineer and part of the crew and made for Hilo. They met the steamer Hawaii which was going to the assistance of the Kihalani. She took the engineer aboard and the boat continued on until it reached Hilo.

Captain Lane, two mates and three men stood by the vessel until they saw there was no chance to save her, and then reached the shore by jumping from the steamer to the rocks.

There was about 100 bags sugar when she went ashore which will be a total loss. The steamer will probably go to pieces as the sea was very rough from the north. Fourteen of the sailors go to Honolulu by the Hail.

Fourteen of the crew of the wrecked vessel arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. Captain Lane and the other officers remained in Hilo, and will come down in the Kihau. The crew walked from Hilo to Punaluu and took passage on the Hail from that point.

APPROPRIATE GIFT.

Citizens' Guard Present a Badge to Their Captain.

The District Court room was filled with members of the Citizens' Guard Saturday evening to witness the presentation of a badge to their captain, F. B. McStocker. W. P. O'Brien presided over the meeting, and when Captain McStocker had been escorted into the room by Marshal Hitchcock, Mr. O'Brien presented to him, in the name of the donors, a beautiful and appropriate badge.

Captain McStocker replied in substance as follows:

GENTLEMEN: Words fail me in expressing the pride and gratification I feel in accepting from you this beautiful gift, feeling justly proud that my efforts as commander should have met with your approbation and pride that I should have the honor to command this organization. I assure you I am deeply grateful for this expression of your regard, and shall always endeavor to retain your confidence and esteem. The prompt response to the call of duty by every member reflects equal honor on all, and will cause the roster of the Citizens' Guard to become in future years a roll of honor, to which all may point with pride. Let us in the future, as in the past, present an unbroken front to the enemy, and stand firmly shoulder to shoulder until we shall have attained the goal to which we aim—annexation to the United States of America. Let me thank you once again for this beautiful badge, which I assure you I shall cherish among my most valued possessions.

Marshal Hitchcock then pinned the badge on the captain's breast, and in a few words complimented the organization and its captain on their faithful response to duty's call.

W. P. O'Brien then dismissed the meeting, which broke up with three cheers for the captain, many crowding around to shake hands with him as he left the room.

The badge is a plain gold five-pointed star with a diamond center, surrounded by an embossed band, on which in black enamel appears, "Captain Citizens' Guard." On the back is inscribed, "Presented to Captain F. B. McStocker by the Citizens' Guard, Honolulu, Feb'y 2-95.

The badge is handsomely designed and in every sense appropriate. It was manufactured by Jeweler Wichman.

SOME NOTES FROM KAU.

Cold Weather, Sugar Plentiful, and Other News from Windward.

Kau is having delightful weather; the sea is the smoothest it has been for years. The mornings are cold, which is caused by the land breeze from the mountain, which is still covered with snow.

Naalehu and Hilea mills are still grinding, and making an abundance of sugar.

Mr. Barthrop, manager of the Coffee Plantation in Kona, is visiting Kau.

The volcano still sleeps; no fire has appeared yet.

The earthquake felt in Honolulu Tuesday night was very light here—in fact, very few felt it.

Slow progress is being made on the new road between Hilea and Pahala; the builders are waiting for the surveyor to come and lay out a new piece on the Pahala end. When it is completed, people can drive from Waiohinu to Pahala with ease.

Purser White, of the W. G. Hall, met with a painful accident on the up-trip of the vessel. While he was being hoisted to the deck in a boat, the vessel gave a lurch, causing him to lose his balance. Before he could get up, his arm was caught between the steamer and small boat, and was badly crushed.

MAUI POLITICS IN ABEYANCE.

All Waiting for News From the Court Martial.

NATIVE ANNEXATION CRIES

Heavy Surf Does Damage at Maliko Gulch—Steamer Kahului Arrives from the Coast—Death From Overdose of Samshu—Sugar Shipments.

MAUI, Feb. 2.—"Brer Rabbit, he lay low,"—not even a first-class rumor during the week to cause political excitement on Maui. No one dares to talk but all are waiting anxiously for news from the court martial.

Labanuluna seminary is now in vacation. Mr. H. S. Townsend is in Honolulu, and Mr. and Mrs. Abbott have been visiting the Dickeyes at Haiku during the week.

At Maliko gulch, during Monday night, the 28th inst., there was a heavy surf, accompanied by a huge tidal wave, which swept in through the opening and, so it is said, dashed against the gravel of the Government road. The bath-houses were washed away, two fishing canoes, the property of Hao and H. P. Baldwin, were broken into pieces, and large bowlders were carried into the old warehouse, compelling a native woman and her two children to flee for their lives.

A native, Kekomalie's son, of Ulupalakua, was found dead in the rear of the Keokea church last Sunday, Jan. 27th. Deputy-sheriff King upon investigating matters discovered that there had been an excessive celebration of "Konohi," an over-indulgence in Samshu, which combined with the exposure incident to a night spent in the icy atmosphere of Kula, had probably caused death.

The grass on the plains and on Haleakala's slope is thicker and higher than for many years previous. The rains have come at right moments.

There is some talk among Wailuku natives of the formation of annexation clubs.

Mr. Hogg is the name of the new luna at Hamakua.

Recently some individual (or individuals) who does not properly distinguish the difference between "meum" and "tuum" has entered and scattered things about at "Idlewild" (Olinda) without the permission of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stolz.

The February evening of the Makawoo Literary Society will take place next Friday, the 8th inst., at the residence of Dr. P. J. Aiken, Paia.

During Thursday evening, January 31st, Miss Grace Dickey of Haiku, much enjoyed a little party given in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

During the week printed invitations to the coming masquerade ball at Wailuku have been sent all over Maui. A. N. Kepoikai is the president of the Maui Dramatic Association.

PORT ITEMS.

The steamer Kahului, Captain Yarneberg, made her second advent into Kahului harbor last Monday, the 28th ult., thirteen days from San Francisco. She brought down a cargo of merchandise, and five passengers: Messrs. Owen Lloyd, G. R. Price, two brothers named Keelen, and Kaaea. The latter, a Hawaiian, was sent here by Consul Wilder. The four strangers, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, make up the passenger list for the return trip. The Kahului will depart today, heavily laden with Hawaiian Commercial Company's sugar.

The J. D. Spreckels, Christiansen master, sailed for San Francisco yesterday, the 1st inst., with a full cargo of sugar.

The four-master, William Bowden, Djerem master, arrived from Honolulu last Wednesday morning, the 30th ult. The Claudine towed her up. She will be loaded with Haiku and Paia sugar.

Weather:—A blighting, disagreeable south wind has been blowing all the week, bearing in occasional showers across the sand hills of Maialaea and Kahului.

THE WRECK OF THE OPHIR.

Dashed to Pieces on the Coral Reef off Levuka.

Captain F. D. Swain, of the bark Ophir, that was wrecked off Levuka, Fiji, was a through passenger on the Warrimoo. He told the following story of the wreck.

"While we were off Levuka, Fiji, on January 7th, a terrible hurricane came up, the clouds closed in and darkness prevailed, there seemed to be no chance of abatement, we were being blown steadily upon the coral reef by the terrific force of the gale. Our crew of fourteen men did gallant work, but all to no avail; twenty-four hours afterwards we were upon the reef, and in danger of being dashed to pieces. Our only chance was to pull away in boats, which we did when we saw the ship could not be saved. After we left her she was dashed to pieces by the force of the waves and became a total loss.

"The barometer's lowest reading was 28.50 deg., which was near the beginning of the storm. Fifteen minutes after we were struck by the hurricane, our ship had nine feet of water in her.

"I cannot see how the disaster could have been averted. Levuka is naturally a bad place for vessels, at any time, but the Weather Bureau reported the storm in which we were caught as the worst one that has ever been known here.

"A Norwegian bark was caught in the storm near Levuka on the same day; all three of her masts were carried away, and the captain was badly injured about the head.

"I am going to San Francisco to report to the agents at that place. I feel especially chagrined at the loss of the Ophir, as it was during my first trip on her. There were 725 tons of copra on board."

SIGNAL LIGHTS CAPTURED.

Two Portuguese Arrested Last Night on the Charge.

(From Monday's Daily.)

About midnight last night a Portuguese fisherman named Manuel Costa came into the police station and brought with him a small bag full of signal fuses and a weapon for firing them. In delivering these to the authorities, he related a startling story of how they came into his possession.

When Costa went down to the fish market to start out on a fishing cruise he found his boat tied up all right, but saw a man sitting therein.

When asked for an explanation the man jumped out and ran away, leaving the bag mentioned in the boat. Costa recognized the usurper, took possession of the bag and brought it to the station house and related his adventure.

Eddie Hitchcock and a native captain of police followed Costa to the house of the suspected party. In a small room off Maunakea street two Portuguese were found in bed. They were ordered to dress themselves and accompany the officers, which they willingly agreed to do. A search of the room failed to bring to light any incriminating evidence, except some damp clothes belonging to the occupants. These were brought along with the men to police headquarters. The suspected Portuguese gave their names as John Vierra and Antone Ferria. They professed utter ignorance of the charge made against them.

NOW IN JAPAN.

Professor Koebele Still Looking Up Pest Destroyers.

By the steamer Warrimoo, Commissioner Marsden received a letter from Professor Koebele, who was in Ceylon. The professor visited the celebrated Botanical Gardens at Kandy, in Ceylon, and has looked carefully into the coffee-leaf disease according to instructions given him by Commissioner Marsden, who has been anxious to obtain seeds of economic plants, but who hesitated to procure them owing to prevalence of the coffee-leaf disease in Ceylon. Professor Koebele writes that there is not the slightest danger of introducing the disease by bringing seeds to this country, as the disease can only exist on living plants. He is fully investigating the Japanese beetle, which is prevalent in that country, and will leave no stone unturned to find some means whereby this pest can be eradicated. Professor Koebele was to leave Ceylon for Japan on the 31st of January.

THE NEW LINE BRANCHING OUT.

Canadian Steamers May Touch At Auckland and Samoa.

COAL MINERS ABOUT TO STRIKE

Unsatisfactory Condition of Affairs In Samoa—Laborers On a Sugar Plantation Enjoy a Cannibal Feast—A Similar Tale Comes From Western Australia.

WITH regard to the proposed inclusion of New Zealand in the Vancouver mail service, Mr. Ward states that an offer was made to the New Zealand Government by Messrs. Huddart, Parker & Co., to run a fast connecting steamer between Fiji and Auckland or Wellington, says a dispatch dated Auckland, N. Z., Jan. 14. The matter was considered by the Government, and it was thought better to have direct steamers themselves, if possible, to come on and touch at Auckland or Wellington, at the option of the contractors and the Postmaster-General of New South Wales, was asked if that colony would be agreeable to allow the steamers to come on to New Zealand. The Government is in favor of establishing a direct mail service via Vancouver, alternating every fortnight with the San Francisco service. In the negotiation for a connecting service it was contemplated to include Samoa as well as Fiji, and the matter is still under negotiation. Messrs. Huddart, Parker & Co. have offered to build a special fast steamer to connect at Fiji for a subsidy of £10,000.

Miners About to Strike.

NEWCASTLE, Jan. 16.—Adam Cook and J. McFayden have been re-elected president and treasurer of the Miners' Association. The result of the ballot at the Newcastle Coal Company's collieries is: For a general strike, 248; against, 172. The total returns up to date are: For a strike, 1120; against, 714; informal, 39. As it requires a two third majority in favor of a strike before it can be enforced, it will be seen that so far this point has not yet been reached. The returns from eight more collieries have yet to come in.

Situation in Samoa.

AUCKLAND, Jan. 15.—News from Samoa states that the unsatisfactory condition of affairs which has existed so long continues. Outside the municipal district of Apia there is absolutely no government. No attempt has been made for a year to collect the native taxes. With the object of remedying this state of things the king is being induced to invite the rebel chiefs to a conference, but it is not expected that any definite agreement will result.

A party of natives from New Ireland, engaged on a German plantation, attacked another party of black laborers killing three, whom they disembowelled, and made preparations to enjoy a cannibal feast. Just as the cooking was about to commence the overseer made his appearance. The murderers were secured and subsequently brought before the German consul and a mixed jury of Germans and Samoans. One was sentenced to death, and others to terms of imprisonment.

Cannibalism in Australia.

Further news has been received regarding the reported cannibalism in the Murchison district, says a late Sydney Herald. The crime occurred recently, forty miles from Nannine, the victim being a young native boy in the employment of some sheep owners. The ringleaders have since been captured by the police. One is a partly civilized aboriginal named George. He describes the revolting scene most realistically. He says that one native named Moncher jammed a stick down the lad's throat, thus impaling him, while George held the victim's hands, and then roasted him, after which the party ate him. The case will be heard at Murchison.

The police found two revolvers in a cave near Luakaha yesterday.

There are a great many homes having zinc-lined bath tubs that are in good condition with this one exception: they lack the features of a porcelain lining. How to overcome this without going to the expense of getting a new tub, has been a question that has worried a great many.

One pot of our WHITE ENAMEL PAINT will do the work, forming as it does a GLOSSY SURFACE, almost equal in hardness and durability to that of porcelain itself, being at the same time hardly distinguishable from porcelain.

Consult your physician and he will tell you by all means to paint your bath tub with Enamel Paint.

The KEYSTONE EGG BEATERS are little gems. Try one if you want your eggs quickly and thoroughly beaten.

We also call your special attention to our economical BARREL and CYLINDER CHURNS, they are easy workers, have all sizes and prices.

We have a handy CLOTHES DRIER, having ten arms made to fasten on the wall, when not in use by a simple pull these arms fold up like a fan, thus taking up but little room.

Remember we sell Standard Oil Co.'s PEARI OIL at $1.80 per case, C. O. D. delivered to any part of the city free.
